Pro-Vision release new product catalogue

Pro-Vision, the UK distributor of security equipment has recently launched its latest 216 page product catalogue (dated March 2017) featuring the very best in branded CCTV, Access Control and Public Address equipment.

David Westwood, External Sales Manager for Pro-Vision told us, “The very latest products from Bosch, Dallmeier, IDIS, Panasonic, Pelco and Samsung Wisenet are included in the publication. New additions include the FLIR range of video and thermal imaging cameras and a comprehensive listing of Bosch public address and commercial audio solutions.”

“At 216 pages the catalogue is our largest publication to date - and with nearly 70 pages devoted to the enhanced IP section alone – there is sure to be a product, brand and solution to satisfy the most demanding applications. Due to the extensive range of equipment we offer, the catalogue can only provide a taste of the vast number of products which are now available from Pro-Vision. With images, product features and improved descriptions the latest edition of our catalogue provides an indication of what each product can deliver. For more comprehensive detailed information we supply the relevant datasheet and can answer any other questions our customers may have.”

David continued, “An up-to-date list of all the brands we distribute is displayed on the back cover of the catalogue. As much as we would like to list every product from all the manufacturers we represent – it’s a bit impractical. However if the brand is listed we are able to obtain any of their products for our customers.”
